HONG KONG'S FINANCIAL SECTOR IS WELL-EQUIPPED AGAINST SHOCKS

- As the fifth wave of the epidemic subsides, the Hong Kong economy can be expected to gradually recover and the unemployment rate will likely drop. Nevertheless, the economic outlook is still subject to considerable uncertainties in the external environment
- The Ukraine situation has worsened the outlook for the global economy (especially for Europe) and fuelled inflationary pressures. A further deterioration of the situation could portend renewed financial market volatilities
- Faced with risk of elevated inflation, the US Fed may deliver larger rate hikes and begin to reduce the size of its balance sheet in the near term, increasing the pressure of capital outflows from emerging markets
- Considerable differences between the USD and HKD interbank rates should induce carry trades, causing the HKD exchange rate to trigger the weak-side Convertibility Undertaking (CU) at 7.85, and fund outflows from the HKD market. The interest rate automatic adjustment mechanism under the Linked Exchange Rate System (LERS) will then kick in and operate, contributing to stabilising the HKD within the zone of 7.75 to 7.85. Such operation is normal and in accordance with the design of the LERS
- Hong Kong's financial system has a robust foundation, with resilience to counter market shocks. The HKMA will continue to closely monitor market conditions to safeguard the monetary and financial stability of Hong Kong

MUTUAL MARKET CONNECT SCHEMES

- Northbound Trading under Bond Connect continued to see active trading. In Q1 2022, average daily turnover amounted to RMB 32.8 billion, up 34% year-on-year. Southbound Trading has been well received by the market and operations have been smooth since launch
- Cross-boundary Wealth Management Connect has been operating smoothly. To date, 24 eligible Hong Kong banks have successfully commenced services with their Mainland partner banks
- The HKMA liaises closely with Mainland regulatory authorities, with a view to exploring feasible measures to further enhance the various mutual market access schemes and Hong Kong's status as an offshore renminbi business hub. These include expansion in investible products and eligible investor space and strengthening market liquidity and risk management

DEVELOPING HONG KONG'S FINANCIAL PLATFORM

Green finance

- Total green and sustainable bonds and loans issued in Hong Kong quadrupled from a year ago to reach US$57 billion in 2021*
- The Green and Sustainable Finance Cross-Agency Steering Group has set up the Centre for Green and Sustainable Finance to strengthen the talent and data related work with a view to enhancing the capacity building on green finance
- The HKMA is assisting the Government in the launch of the inaugural retail green bond. Public response has been enthusiastic
- The HKMA continues to assist the Government in administering the Green and Sustainable Finance Grant Scheme to attract more green and sustainable financing activities to Hong Kong. By April 2022, around 70 applications have been approved

Bond market development

- According to the International Capital Market Association, Hong Kong has been the largest hub for arranging Asian international bond issuance for 6 consecutive years, with a 34% market share (US$207 billion) in 2021

Asset and wealth management

- The HKMA has been working with the Task Force led by FSTB to develop a proposal to provide tax concession for family offices. Industry consultation was conducted between March and April 2022, and indicated general support for the proposal

CRYPTO-ASSETS AND STABLECOINS

- On 12 January, the HKMA issued a discussion paper on crypto-assets and stablecoins, setting out the HKMA's thinking on the proposed regulatory framework for payment-related stablecoins
- The HKMA is reviewing the feedback received from the consultation period which recently closed on 31 March. Comments gathered from engagement so far demonstrated broad support for the HKMA to adopt a risk-based, pragmatic and agile regulatory approach
- The HKMA will issue the consultation conclusion and announce our next steps in due course

DEVELOPMENT OF CENTRAL MONEYMARKETS UNIT (CMU)

- To help Hong Kong grasp the emerging opportunities from the further opening up of the Mainland financial markets, the CMU has reviewed its strategic position and has commenced enhancements on both system and business fronts:
  - System enhancement (to increase CMU's capability, functions and efficiency to cope with growing demand)
  - Introduction of new services (to better support market participants to grasp new opportunities)
- Some of the enhancements and services have been launched, like those for Southbound Bond Connect and collateralised lending service for primary issuance, and the rest would be rolled out by phases over next few years
- The long-term objective is to establish the CMU as a major international central securities depository in Asia

LATEST FINTECH INITIATIVES

- Launch of the Guangdong-Hong Kong-Macao Greater Bay Area Fintech Pilot Trial Facility
- Research on retail Central Bank Digital Currency:
  - Issued a discussion paper in April 2022 to invite views from the public and the industry on key policy and design issues for introducing “e-HKD”
  - To offer initial thoughts on “e-HKD” by mid-2022
- Development of Commercial Data Interchange:
  - Currently in pilot launch stage, with official launch expected by the end of 2022
  - Contemplating new Proof-of-Concept studies to explore new use cases
- Implementation of Open Application Programming Interface for the banking sector:
